

Bostik presents adhesive technology for the marine sector at METS 2009

Exhibition: Marine Equipment Trade Show
City: Amsterdam
Location: RAI – Hall 11
Booth number: 11.202

This year 'Bonding expert' Bostik participates again in the Marine Equipment Trade Show (METS) in the Amsterdam Rai from the 17th until the 19th of November 2009.

Novelties

Besides the well known products, this year Bostik presents 2 novelties; XPU18507 and the Supergrip MMA range.

XPU18507 is a versatile 2 component polyurethane adhesive for various structural bonding applications in the production of high-quality super yachts. This innovative product is used in bonding of bulkheads in sail- and motorboats and in deck-to-hull bonding.

Supergrip MMA range (8105, 8115 and 8205) consists of two-component, rapid curing, methylmethacrylate, structural adhesives, which cure by reaction to form a tough durable bond with plastics, metals and other materials. The Supergrip MMA products are developed for the automotive, marine, construction and assembly industries where it is used to bond components in dynamic, high temperature, aggressive fluid, internal and external environments.

Our professional exhibition team is happy to welcome you at our booth to inform you all about these novelties!

Presented products

The complete Marine Special Range (MSR) will be presented during the METS. This range consists of varied products like durable elastic adhesives en sealants with a wide availability and a high resistance against the demanding maritime circumstances. Besides the MSR range the Dual SMP technology and various applications are presented at this exhibition. Curious?? Visit Bostik at booth 11.202 in the Hall 11 of the Rai complex in Amsterdam!
